

side of her machine, waiting for the wind to die down. When she finally flew the plane, it was still better than thirty miles an hour.

In making the flight Miss Law is backing herself financially. Her purpose, she says, is a scientific one. Her only hope of reward is a medal from the Aero Club of America.

Will Be Disappointed.

"I have breakfasted in Chicago. If I don't eat luncheon in New York city I will be so disappointed I won't eat until dinner, time tonight, wherever I may be," Miss Law declared, just before her start.

Her mechanics pleaded with her to postpone the flight until weather conditions were more favorable.

One of them wept openly, declaring it was certain death to undertake the trip.

Miss Law, however, refused to listen to the pleadings of her advisers. She renounced all claim to daring or bravery.

BRIDEGROOM'S SISTER STRICKEN AFTER FETE

Wedding Gayety Brings Back Sorrow Over Husband's Death.

Just as the guests at a wedding feast at 263 Brothers place southeast, had departed last evening, an ambulance dashed up to take Mrs. Rose Yannicki, a sister of the bridegroom, to Casualty Hospital.

Mrs. Yannicki, it was said at the hospital today, is suffering from a nervous shock and hysteria.

Mrs. Yannicki has been worrying over the death of her own husband, and the gayety of the wedding feast last evening, it is believed, caused a reaction which affected her deeply.

Attention was attracted to Mrs. Yannicki's room by a pistol shot. Police man Larry Farquhar, who was nearby, hurried to the home.

He said the revolver from which the shot had been fired was an old one and that some of the shells in it had turned green.

EPISCOPAL BISHOP FOR UNWRITTEN LAW

Advocates Whipping Post and Lash for Home Breakers.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 19.—Bishop Frank Du Molin of the Episcopal diocese of Toledo, in an address here upheld the unwritten law and advocated the whipping post for "moral lepers."

"Shooting is too good for the moral leper who dares to take from another man all that is dear to his heart," he said.

"Physical fear is the only method of reaching such men. I would revive the old whipping post and lash the home-breaker before his fellow men."

Do You Know Original Of This Picture?

Reproduction of the Oil Painting, Whose Identity Is Being Sought.

SEEKS THE OWNER OF 50-YEAR-OLD PICTURE

R. P. Tollman Wants to Learn History of Painting He Bought From Storage Co.

Who is the original of a portrait of a handsome gentleman, of about middle age, with a firm mouth and good eyes, painted about 1867?

And who is the owner of the portrait? This query has reached the Chamber of Commerce, accompanied by a photograph of the portrait. And the question has been turned over to The Times.

R. P. Tollman sent the photograph to the Chamber of Commerce. He bought the portrait, he said, from the Fidelity Storage Company, for storage charges. He has since become curious to learn the original of the portrait, the owner, and the artist.

The portrait was bought from the Fidelity Storage Company, and inquiry there revealed the fact that the picture was originally brought to Washington and turned over to them by a Mrs. F. A. Wilkins, of Rosemont, Va. Since that time, nothing has been heard from her.

Mr. Tollman stated he believes the portrait was painted by an artist by the name of Spencer.

Inquiry at Rosemont was fruitless, and nothing could be learned of Mrs. Wilkins.

Ballet Russe Arrives Here on Special Train

In a special train long enough to bring a circus to town, Diaghileff's Ballet Russe rolled into Washington at 1:10 o'clock this afternoon.

Eight baggage cars bore the costume creations of Leon Bakst, and the unusual scenic features of the production, and seven Pullmans bore Nijinsky, Bolm, Lopokova, Revalles, and the company of forty other dancers, and symphony orchestra of seventy-five.

The opening performance of the ballet will be at the Belasco tomorrow night.

SUIT NOT TO DELAY DEUTSCHLAND'S TRIP

Owners May Give Bond to Cover Damages From Sinking Tugboat.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 19.—Libel proceedings instituted here against the Eastern Forwarding Company, owners of the Deutschland, will not delay her in starting again on her homeward voyage to Bremen.

This was made plain when the forwarding company's officials were given to understand that furnishing of sufficient bond to cover any possible damage proceedings by owners of the tug T. A. Scott, Jr., sunk on the Deutschland's interrupted dash Thursday, would be acceptable.

Libel proceedings are generally merely the forerunner or warning of intention to sue.

Interesting Disclosures Likely.

An interesting phase of the proceedings is that, if the matter goes into court the exact building cost of the big sub-sea boat, and the value of her cargo may be brought out.

Captain Hirsch, of the Eastern Forwarding Company, who was the only man saved from the rammed tug, was out of bed for the first time this afternoon and visited the Deutschland's pier. His condition is such, however, that those who are probing the accident will not ask his testimony for several days, they said.

The Deutschland is said to be likely to make another dash for the open sea within seventy-two hours.

Repairs Nearly Completed. The Eastern Forwarding Company has not yet filed bond in the libel suit.

Deputy Marshal Hawley, who served the papers, kept a man aboard the boat. It is understood the bond will be filed before Monday night.

Repairs, consisting chiefly of straightening damaged plates, were practically completed late this afternoon, and will be entirely completed before Monday.

GETS LICENSE TO WED THROUGH A KEYHOLE

Prof. Barry, Quarantined, Answers Questions to Clerk in Hall.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—When Prof. Frederick Barry, instructor in Mathematics in Columbia University, call up City Clerk Scully and said he was ill but wanted a marriage license, Mr. Scully readily consented to send a clerk to Professor Barry's home to grant the license.

Prof. Barry lives in an apartment house at 601 West 113th street. When the clerk got there he found a diphtheria quarantine sign on the door of the apartment.

The clerk couldn't enter and Professor Barry couldn't leave. Miss Ada Durt Norris, of Cambridge, Mass., the other person interested, was in the apartment. The clerk solved the difficulty finally by shouting his questions while standing in the hallway, and the answers were shouted back by the principals on the other side of the door.

Then the clerk backed far down the hall, Prof. Barry opened the door, and in full view of the clerk, although twenty feet away, the clerk witnessed both signatures.

Miss Norris was the wife of Edgar F. Schiele, but divorced him last spring.

openly assert that the direction of the world struggle will be found in Transylvania and not on the Somme. In pursuance of this plan the Austro-Germans under von Falkenhayn are slowly penetrating Rumania through the Transylvanian alps, Rumania's western boundary, though at a standstill in the Carpathians.

Mackensen's Army Threatened.

In the Dobrudja von Mackensen is threatened by two Russian and Rumanian armies aiming for the Constantza-Cernavoda railroad and the Danube bridge to prevent an invasion of Rumania from the south.

In Macedonia the allies are attempting to invade Bulgaria from the south.

If the Dobrudja and Macedonian armies can advance, Bulgaria will be caught between millstones and the great railroad from Berlin to Constantinople, the backbone of the central powers, will be cut.

The rehabilitated Serbian forces acting with General Sarraill's army by establishing themselves in the outskirts of Kanera, five miles south of Monastir, are about to invest that important stronghold.

While this movement is going on the Rumanians are doing all they can to stop the Teutons near Campulung and with some success.

ROME, Nov. 19.—Dispatches from Zurich assert that Austrian military commanders have approved plans for a new offensive in the Settec Comuni region, and in this connection have called to the colors the reserve classes of 1876 and 1877.

HIGH SCHOOL "FRATS" ASK FOR RECOGNITION

Thirteen Applications to Board of Education Planned.

High school fraternities intend to put up a determined fight for recognition by the Board of Education. Applications to this effect will be filed this week by thirteen fraternities.

The Sigma Delta fraternity, at a banquet last night, decided to take all possible steps to fight movements leading to suppression of "frats" in high schools here.

The Board of Education will allow delegates of various fraternities to come before it and give their side of the question some day this week.
